

Thank you for advertising in Best of Olentangy

This proof is for text, caption/photos and headline and layout may be slightly different in printed version. This is your final proof; please check it carefully and send us any changes/corrections by FRIDAY, APRIL 17.

Acme Canine offers more than 10 years' experience

For more than 10 years, Acme Canine has been entrusted with helping people train their dogs and nurture their canine relationships. Nearly 4,000 clients now believe in the value of building better life-long bonds through behavior, training and coaching, and the difference it makes in dog owners' lives.

When owner, Laura Pakis, decided on the Acme name, she had not thought of the benefits of having a company name that started with the first letter of the alphabet. Rather it was based on two other reasons. One was the good memories of the nostalgic Acme Company and how it could fix anything. Most importantly, it was the more intellectual reason of Acme's definition meaning "the highest level or degree attainable; the highest stage of development". For Acme Canine that means being dogcentric!

Acme Canine's staff enjoys working with all breeds and ages of dogs. They are committed to making dogs polite members of society and a joy to own. All members of the Acme Canine staff believe in maintaining the highest standards of professionalism and business practice, as well as keeping abreast of the latest methods, practices and techniques of dog training. Since its formation, Acme Canine has expanded and built a larger facility to better serve the central Ohio dog owner community. Keeping with its mission, Acme Canine continues to utilize a variety of innovative and individualized techniques to teach dogs and owners a positive method of living and learning together.

